Dear Mr Argent

I have been forwarded your email, below, from your solicitor Minal Backhouse to which I respond as follows.

As regards my advising my client, I will of course continue to advise my client in accordance with UK law and have advised my client accordingly as to the steps to be taken. I note that your solicitor below has stated that she is not instructed and therefore all documents will be served on you directly.

As previously stated, neither your son or this firm recognise the Court of Record and doubtless it has no jurisdiction in the UK for the purposes of any proposed rulings. To that end, the documents will be handed to the relevant authorities.

For the sake of completeness my client intends to pursue his interests in accordance with UK law.

I trust this confirms my client's position.

Finally and for the sake of completeness, please do not forward me any further Court of Record papers as I find their content disturbing and I take offence with them. Any further transgression will be treated as harassment to which I shall exercise my rights accordingly.

Regards

Doug.

Dear Doug,

Please see the email response from my client. He has asked me to forward this to you.

For the avoidance of doubt, I can confirm that we are not representing our client in respect of those papers and proceedings that you have received.

Kind regards

Minal

Dear Minal,

Kindly advise Doug that he has until the 18 December, 2015 to withdraw from the Common Law process in the Court of Record and advise his client that he cannot represent him.

Best regards,

Keir

Hi Minal

This is what was sent to me and I have raised my concerns with my client.

You should read the document and advise your client to cease immediately sending his son or me any further material of this nature. Your attention is drawn to the document which appears to suggest that your client has been granted an injunction from attending the magistrates court which is obviously a matter for your client.

I find its contents distasteful and I do not, as law abiding citizen and court servant acknowledge its jurisdiction or preaching's.

Please confirm by reply that you have instructed your client to remove me and my client from his mailing list.

Thanks

Doug
